Policy on Tools Based on Large Language Models (LLMs) – ChatGPT, Gemini, etc.

Engaging in the various aspects of creative pursuits (e.g., writing, coding, drawing) is critical to education in a broad sense. While digital services based on LLMs (including but certainly not limited to: ChatGPT, Gemini, Grok, DeepSeek, Claude ..... ) will continue shaping how we approach these creative tasks, the critical work of learning relies on integrity, originality, and ethical conduct.

Using LLM-based tools to construct all or parts of your submitted work, including the Canvas assignments and the Media Fandom Assignment, will be considered plagiarism and handled according to Texas A&M University's academic honor code.

However, within limited circumstances, these programs may be used responsibly and ethically as a tool to aid your learning.

For this course, here are examples of permissible uses:

- Checking for grammatical errors in your existing draft.
- Brainstorming: conceiving and refining specific ideas related to assignments. Sample prompt: "I want to make a piece of fan art related to the Harry Potter franchise, but I am poor at drawing. What are some other art forms I can consider?"
- Studying for exams. Sample prompt: "How to differentiate the three subject positions proposed by Stuart Hall? Can you give me an example?"
  - While this use is permissible, I strongly advise you to verify the output of these programs to ensure accuracy.
